THE WHITE ADDRESS!

The White Light Skin Clinics, who are the first to introduce the latest breakthrough developments in intense pulsed light therapy into the UK, have at last achieved the web and email address they wanted.

"The words White Light had been taken up by a variety of businesses including domestic lighting and religious groups well before this new technology was developed," said product manager Rachael Moody.

"At last we have managed to register www.white-light.com which will now be the official website address for all our clinics across the UK."
